The following is a statement of your main terms and conditions of your employment with Exclusive Services Group Ltd. The engagement section of these terms and conditions includes information that is personal to you and will form part of your terms and conditions of employment. We reserve the right to make reasonable changes to any of your terms of employment to meet with the needs of the business. You will be notified in writing of any changes as soon as possible but usually within one month of the changes

1. Date of Commencement of Employment

Your employment began as stated on the engagement form. No previous employment counts as continuous employment with TESH, unless TUPE applies.

2. Place of Work

Your place of work is as stated on the reverse of these terms and conditions. However, the company reserve the right to transfer an employee to another site or carry out other duties considered within your skill and competence to assist the smooth running of the business. In the event that our client disapproves of employment of an employee, the company will endeavour to find alternative employment. If alternative employment cannot be found, employment may be terminated, subject to the necessary statutory notice periods, unless there has been an act of gross misconduct.

3. Hours of Work

Your normal hours of work are as stated above or in a separate notification. The company reserves the right to require the employee to work different hours, if the needs of the business so dictate, whether temporarily or permanently. This may involve shorter or longer hours of work or working at different times or on different days of the week. You must attend work punctually at the specified times and comply strictly with any signing in and out procedures in operation at your place of work.

4. Time and Attendance

Exclusive Services Group Ltd operate a different T&A systems across the business all linked to its payroll system. You will be instructed upon start which is in operation at the site you work. Signing in and out is a compulsory requirement for T&A. Failure to sign in and out correctly could result in wages being incorrectly paid.

If you forget to clock in or out, you must contact the head office immediately.

5. Maternity/Paternity Leave/Pay

Current statutory legislation will apply. For full details on conditions of eligibility, rules, and regulations, including any necessary health & safety regulations please contact the payroll or human resources department.

You must notify your supervisor/manager as soon as reasonably practical to ensure conditions of eligibility are fulfilled and where necessary risk assessments can be carried out.

6. Probationary Period

The first 6 months of your employment is a probationary period. During this period, your work performance and general suitability will be assessed and if satisfactory your employment will continue. However, if your work performance is not up to the required standard or you are considered to be unsuitable your employment may be terminated at any time, or your probationary period extended, and the company reserve the right not to apply our full contractual capability and disciplinary procedures during the probationary period.

Employment is subject to receiving satisfactory references and/or relevant security checks. Depending on the site employed at a DBS/CRB check may also be necessary.

7. Remuneration

Your salary is as detailed above or as revised from time to time. All employees are paid by BACS (Bank Automated Credit System). Four weekly employees are paid on the Friday following the pay run period. Monthly paid employees are paid on the last working day of the month (Exclusive) and 24th (Braybourne) of each month.

Your pay advice will show your basic rate of pay together with any additional earnings or deductions. Any questions about your pay should be raised with your Manager. The company shall be entitled to recover any overpayment of wages from future wage payments. Payment for wages for hours not actually worked is dishonest and fraudulent which is deemed as an act of gross misconduct and will result in any overpayment being deducted and disciplinary action.

8. Holidays

Holidays must be taken by arrangement with your supervisor/manager and should be staggered to give maximum coverage in each contract. If applicable, holidays must be taken to coincide with customer holiday shutdowns or, if employed at a school or further educational establishment, during non-term time dates. The holiday year runs from 1st April to 31st March. Annual leave entitlement is in accordance with current Government Legislation. Holidays cannot be carried forward into the next holiday year. Any holiday entitlement taken but not accrued on leaving the company will be deducted from wages accordingly. Any entitlement accrued but not taken on cessation will be reimbursed, where applicable.

9. Sickness/Absence

If you are unable to attend work for any reason you MUST contact your supervisor or manager prior to the start of your shift, by telephone. Notification should be made personally unless you are unable to do so, in which case you should ask a relative or a friend to do so on your behalf. You will be entitled to Statutory Sick Pay (SSP) providing the conditions of eligibility are fulfilled, during any unavoidable absence through sickness or accident, provided you follow the notification and certificate procedure as set out in the employee handbook.

10. Pensions

All employees are entitled to participate in the workplace pension scheme operated by the company in accordance with law. Details available from Head Office.

11. Shortage of work/ Lay Offs

It is a term of the contract that the company has the right to place you on short-term working or lay you off without pay should the needs of the company require it, as set out in the employee handbook.

12. Disciplinary and Grievance Procedures

The company operate disciplinary procedures in conjunction with statutory legislation in order to help and encourage all employees to achieve and maintain standards of conduct, attendance, and job performance. The company promote fairness and consistency throughout the disciplinary and grievance procedures.

13. Company Uniform

All uniform provided must be worn at all times. All garments remain the property of TESSG and must be returned on cessation of employment. Failure to do so will result in a deduction being made from your final earnings.
